DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 6, 13-14 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent No. 5,496,332 to Sierra et al. (Sierra).

In Reference to Claim 1:

Sierra teaches:

A device for joining a first body vessel to a second body vessel, comprising: a) a cartridge (12, Fig. 3) having a distal end and defining a longitudinal axis; b) a radially expandable anchor (34, Fig. 3) disposed at the distal end of the cartridge (12, Fig. 3) for engaging the first body vessel, the expandable anchor (34, Fig. 2) having an initial condition (Fig. 2) and an expanded condition (Fig. 3) wherein the expandable anchor is radially larger than the expandable anchor in the initial condition; and c) a plurality of sutures (66, 68, Fig. 4) disposed within the cartridge (12, Fig. 4) and being deployable therefrom so as to engage the second body vessel, the sutures (66, 68, Fig. 4) being threaded through the expandable anchor (34, Fig. 4); and d) a plurality of needle anchors (46, 48, Fig. 4), wherein each needle anchor (46, 48, Fig. 4) of the plurality of needle anchors is attached to a distal end (where wings 50, 52 are, Fig. 4) of a corresponding one of the plurality of sutures (66, 68, Fig. 4).

In Reference to Claim 2:

ABCD teaches:

The device of claim 1 (see rejection of Claim 1 above), wherein the expandable anchor (34, Fig. 4) comprises a plurality of flexible arms (anchor 34 expand radially on both side, Fig. 4) biased in an expanded position.

In Reference to Claim 6:

ABCD teaches:

The device of claim 1 (see rejection of Claim 1 above), wherein the sutures (66, 68, Fig. 4) have distal ends (where wings 50, 52 are, Fig. 4) and needle anchors (46, 48, Fig. 4) attached to the distal ends, the needle ends (54, 56, Fig. 4) being deployable from the cartridge (12, Fig. 4).

In Reference to Claim 13:

ABCD teaches:

A device for joining a first body vessel to a second body vessel, comprising: a) a cartridge (12, Fig. 4) having a distal end and defining a longitudinal axis; b) an anchor (34, Fig. 4) disposed at the distal end of the cartridge (12, Fig. 4) for engaging the first body vessel; and c) a plurality of sutures (66, 68, Fig. 4) disposed within the cartridge (12, Fig. 4) and being deployable therefrom so as to engage the second body vessel, the sutures (66, 68, Fig. 4) being threaded through the anchor (34, Fig. 4); and d) a plurality of needle anchors (46, 48, Fig. 4), wherein each needle anchor of the plurality of needle anchors is attached to a distal end (where wings 50, 52 are, Fig. 4) of a corresponding one of the plurality of sutures (66, 68, Fig. 4).

In Reference to Claim 14:

ABCD teaches:

The device of claim 13 (see rejection of Claim 13 above), wherein the anchor (34, Fig. 4) comprises a plurality of outwardly extending arms (anchor 34 expands radially on both sides, Fig. 4).

In Reference to Claim 18:

ABCD teaches:

The device of claim 13 (see rejection of Claim 13 above), wherein the sutures (66, 68, Fig. 4) have distal ends (where wings 50, 52 are, Fig. 4) and needle anchors (46, 48, Fig. 4) attached to the distal ends, the needle ends 54, 56, Fig. 4) being deployable from the cartridge (12, Fig. 4).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3-5, 7-9, 15-17 and 19-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US Patent No. 6,923,820 to Nash et al. teach surgical connector systems and methods of use. US Patent No. 4,553,543 to Amarasinghe teaches a suturing assembly and method.
